Last month, the Gay community lost a dazzling icon and friend when Princess Diana was killed. Her death marks not only the end of stunning gowns and glamour, but also of charity and kindness on a level we are unlikely to see again.

Diana's work with the Lighthouse project in London was a turning point for AIDS patients everywhere. In a society where Gay people were considered bad, and sick Gay people were thought to be evil, Diana brought light and hope. Through her example, she openly showed the public that there was nothing to fear; that regardless of health and sexuality, we are a global community. From those early days of bedside visits to AIDS patients, Diana went on to become the Patron of the Lighthouse project, helping to raise funds and awareness throughout London, Europe and the world.

Knowing that she could influence public opinion on many issues, Diana did not limit herself to the fight against AIDS. Instead, she travelled extensively, showing the world what can be done about the suffering of others. From landmine victims in Bosnia to child cancer patients in Pakistan, Diana cared and wanted others to care too.

The global wave of grief which followed Diana's death knew no boundaries, housewives in Serbia, businessmen in Tokyo, schoolchildren in Poland, all of us mourned together. In death, as in life, Diana touched the lives of millions.

Hong Kong 10% Club's She & Her Group are organising a "Sport for us Event" but only for Lesbians and bisexual women. The contests include badminton and basketball. Dates: 13 September, 3:00 p.m.-5:00 p.m. 21 6:00 p.m.-8:00 p.m. (Fun Day and semi-final) 28 September, 5:00 p.m.-7:00 p.m. (final) 7:00 p.m.-8:00 p.m. (3 people basketball Team) The venue is in Yau Ma Tei (near MTR station). Further details, from 10% Club's Hotline (2314 8726) or Zoe Wong (7333 8873). These are thought to be the first Hong Kong Lesbian Sports ever organised.

BA, one of the oldest sauna's on Hong Kong-side, is moving. And as from the end of September will also have a new name. QQ Fitness, as it will be known, will be located on the 3/F King Dao Building, 14, Burrows Street, Wanchai Tel: 2527 7073. Although the name and address have changed the same warm welcome and friendliness await you, assures owner Paul.

Propaganda is also on the move...but not until late October. The club was to have moved at the end of August but delays in renovations to the new building have forced the move to be delayed for at least two months. The 'new' Propaganda will have a larger dance floor as well as a "comfortable and spacious bar area" according to the manager. Meanwhile plans are underway to turn the 'old' premises into an up-market European style restaurant, with attitude.

The (almost) exclusive Club Camargue restaurant was so well known and loved in its' old place in Central that we thought time to update our opinion now it has moved. Boy, are we glad we did! Out have gone the oh-so soft furnishings, music, lighting, carpeting and that-to-die-for view. In has come a first floor restaurant with the less than delightful sight of a salacious Wanchai street in full evening flow. The lighting is harsh, the chairs seem more designed for a fast-food place rather than a relaxing evening, and the music wouldn't be out of place in a Hardrock Cafe. The best that can be said for this once renown eatery is that the menu hasn't changed. The food is still as well cooked and delicious as ever. An added plus has to be, at times, over-zealous service. As further word of warning take your own wine as they haven't yet been able to obtain their liqueur licence. The new address of Club Camargue: 1/F, 128, Lockhart Road, Wanchai. Tel: 2522 9807.

Rule Number 19 - Buy a bottle of champagne. Everyone should have some champers sitting around the larder for that unexpected guest. If you have a brain, you would have been keeping it in the fridge, as no one likes much to drink warm bubbly. But if you really know what you're doing, that bottle is better used elsewhere. First of all, before you shower in the evening, grease that baby up, and have a nice relaxing sit. It's always better to stretch yourself when man-hunting as no one like a virgin. And after your shower, you carefully shake the bottle and use the bubbly as a douche. If you buy the same quality as I do, a champagne douche is far cheaper than anything they sell in Watsons..... And everyone likes an elegant smelling man-pussy.

Rule Number 20 - The best men you'll ever find are driving minibuses. They know how to treat a person - "get in and sit down, bitch." Most of them have that certain air of machismo masculinity that you can't find on every street corner. There's nothing like a man who'll tell you exactly what to do, and where to do it. In this age of lost souls, aimlessness, and wandering careers, we all need a man to kick our asses, and hopefully lose a foot inside our ours. (fist f....ing is pass - foot f....ing is the new rage) There's no better man than the one who drives the red and yellow minibus.

Rule Number 21 - If you're a top man - tell him he's too tight for you, and you need to go slowly in order to get over the pain. There's nothing that a bottom loves to hear more than that he's as tight as a cork going back into a champagne bottle. (of course no one I've ever known has come close to having any similar problems) Tell him you need more KY jelly, and mention that it's not because you're so big, but because he's so small. And, NEVER, Never ask him if you're "in" yet

Rule number 21

A - If your a bottom - tell him you're afraid he might be too big, and that you reserve the right to veto his entry if this proves to be the case. Of course you won't have anything to worry about, and if he's like any of the men I've ever had in Asia, he'll fall in love with you for at least trying to compliment him. Make absolutely positively certain that you wince in "pain" - moan and groan excessively while you "relax" yourself. Then move into a high pitched humming as the motion increases. If size is a problem, you can always apply some dentu-grip on the condom before he consummates his love for you, and make for at least a little bit of friction. (he doesn't have to know about this of course) Never ask him if he's "in" yet - unless of course you really don't know.

Rule Number 22 - Try some bestiality. Do it to a dog, or a horse, or if you live in NT, do it to a pig. If you can do it with any of the above, you'd do wonderful with any (and probably all) of the men that I've had. Armani makes me puke, CK makes me feel like a trans-sexual, and corporate drag (suit and tie, for all you hairdressers,) makes me feel like a prostitute. The best men in the world have sex with animals as regularly as you have steamed rice for dinner, or as often as I floss my teeth. And the only thing that separates them from you and me is the number of diseases they've contracted. While admittedly diseases aren't necessarily fun, they give us all a wonderful reason to complain.

And this is nice, because we all could use a few legitimate reasons to complain. There's no better way to experience the world that to loudly proclaim: "I got the Clap from my poodle, syphilis from the neighbour's cow, and venereal warts from my brother." (my brother IS a pig!) But in the process, you'll have bonded with most likely some of the best marriage material that exists in this fine city of Hong Kong. And that, my friends, is what life is really all about.

These rules are very important because in today's hectic workaholic Hong Kong lifestyle, the next man whose phone number you ask for is very likely going to be looking at your bank balance before he even lets you into his home. It's very important to bring sex back into our lives. After all, sex is what makes us who we are, what we are, it gives us a reason for living, for staying up late at night, and spending all that hard earned money at Escada. We all need to re-learn how to enjoy ourselves, how to cheapen each other up a bit, and make the most of our short lives. So make sure you visit the saunas at least once a week for practice sessions. There's no such thing as love in a sauna, but there's not much outside either. But one thing we can get from the saunas (aside from Hep B) is a rich and varied collection of experiences from which we can draw on in subsequent relationships whether they last for 20 minutes, or 20 years. Sex should be grungy and purposeful. And we all should be sexy. At the saunas it's dark, dank and dirty, and each one of us has the potential to shine like a superstar - so, off with our clothes!

So join us next month, when Mademoiselle Fifi du- Mid-Sommet recants ten of the most important lessons Lesbians need to learn, those lovely labia lapping tofu ladies of our community. Until then, go catch all the diseases you possibly can! Lots of love, and hours of deep throat kisses, Fifi.

Heterosexual men who say they hate Gays are likely to have homosexual leanings themselves, a new study suggests. The results support what has long been a murmur in the Gay and Lesbian community. "These guys despise in others what they see in themselves," said Henry E. Adams, research professor of psychology at the University of Georgia at Athens, who conducted the research. In the study, reported in an edition of The Journal of Abnormal Psychology, Adams compared two groups of men who said they were heterosexual. One was homophobic, defined as having an irrational fear and hatred of homosexuals and also a dread of being close to them. The other group was not. When scientists exposed both groups to heterosexual, Gay and Lesbian erotic videos, over half the men in the homophobic group showed arousal to videos showing Gay sex, while less than a quarter of the non-homophobic group were similarly aroused.

Israel

A study of immigrants to Israel has found that uncircumcised men may have a greater risk of contracting HIV because an intact foreskin helps bacteria, including the agents of sexually transmitted diseases, survive. Michael Dan of E. Wolfson Hospital in Israel and colleagues compared the bacterial flora from 125 men who were circumcised when they immigrated with 46 already circumcised men. The researchers found sexually transmitted bacteria almost exclusively in the uncircumcised men.

France

The number of full-blown AIDS cases in France decreased in the first half of 1997, leading officials to expect a continuing annual decline. The health ministry reported that 2,507 new AIDS cases were reported between January and June, which would amount to 5,014 cases for the year if the trend continues. Last year, 5,469 cases were reported, down from 5,789 in 1995.

Happy

Wong Kar Wei has never been a conventional Hong Kong film maker. Defying the predictable genres of action, horror, soft-core or slapstick, or sub-genres of Kung Fu, Shanghai Triad, contemporary romantic comedy, his previous movies such as Days of Being Wild, Ashes of Time, Fallen Angels and Chungking Express difficult to grasp and not altogether palatable especially to Hong Kong cinema goers who generally want to know what to expect before going to the cinema, and who have an unending appetite for formula movies.

However "cultish" Wong's movies, they must at least have enough box office pull to attract Hong Kong studios and investors who are not known for their artistic courage. Wong's movies typically employ high profile Canto-pop stars (Leon Lai in Fallen Angels and Leslie Cheung in Days of Being Wild, and Happy Together) in leading roles - not something one would expect from cult movies.

Filmed mainly in Argentina Happy Together's two main characters are a Gay couple (played by Tong Leung and Leslie Cheung). Right at the beginning of the film there is a shaky camera black and white scene of the couple making frantic love on a rickety bed. Although the film does not have any frontal nudity, the scene is nevertheless probably the most explicit and raw representation of Gay sex to have appeared on the mainstream Hong Kong screen. At a time when people are still squeamish about seeing two men kissing, the director has no qualms whatsoever in showing physical passion between men. It is, for example, quite clear when the character's furious passion culminates in anal intercourse and ejaculation. Physical intimacy between same sex couples is not exploited nor is it what this movie is about; unlike Philadelphia, Wong does not try to hide it. It's dealt with as it should, intelligently, tastefully and artistically.

This film is also not about Gay men nor Gay relationships, the theme is sex and love, and more specifically the aftermath of losing them from our lives. Characteristically this film reeks of urban desperation - the kind of melancholia that big cities breed, and of which he is a master at portraying.

The ironic sensibility is reflected by, despite the film's title, the thing the characters that desperately seek is not happiness. For them, being happy is at best a fleeting emotion, at worst something unattainable. Instead, the characters seek something further removed from pure happiness - perhaps the road to happiness, or even just the comprehension of the things in which happiness resides. It is the realisation of this that gives the English title of his latest film an element of sweet irony, since the place that the central character finally reaches is not the attainment of happiness together with his lover, but a state of peace with himself and reconciliation with others he hurt in the past. This is not happiness, but calmness and serenity.

Councillor and Honorary President of the Hong Kong Cantonese Opera and Arts Association and the Very Reverend Chris Philips, Dean of St. John's Cathedral and Chairman of the HIV Information & Drop-in Centre.

Dean Philips in his speech welcomed to the exhibition and thanked all the participants for their kind and generous support towards the Centre. Afterwards, Dr. Conrad Lam noted that over the years, Hong Kong's AIDS programme has been characterised by a remarkable feature of community participation.

What is more impressive, according to Dr. Lam, is that Government and non-governmental organisations have worked harmoniously towards the common goals of HIV prevention and care for those infected, despite the difference in their strategies.

He also praised the contribution of The HIV Information & Drop-in Centre among various community organisations. "Its location in the heart of Central Hong Kong and its' affiliation to the Cathedral have given additional significance to the Centre," added Dr. Lam.

After the ribbon-cutting ceremony, 83-year-old Dr. Fang Zhaoling wrote an inscription for the HIV Information & Drop-in Centre to commemorate the Exhibition.

The three Chinese characters, meaning "Family of love", showed the committed effort by the Centre.

The most expensive artwork was "Yueng-chee River", a 109 x 209 cm picture by artist Yu Sai-kin, with an asking price of $65,000. although a deal could be made, by a few thousand dollars, in most cases.

One official guest Mr. Charles Yang, former Chairman of AIDS Concern, said he had ordered two pieces of work, with one done by his teacher Mr. Zhou Shicong, while councillor Mr. Wong Shing Chi had yet to make up his mind.

Overall attendance for the three days stood at about 800 according to the organiser who said: "One-tenth of the artworks have been successfully sold. The items are mostly the cheaper ones, characterised by the older and more renowned artists, as well."

"A Fund-raising Exhibition of Chinese Painting & Calligraphy" organised by the HIV Information & Drop-in Centre of St. John's Cathedral at the Hong Kong Cultural Centre, 23 to 25 August.

There were 162 pieces of artwork altogether, donated by 88 local Chinese artists and calligraphers. The proceedings went to the Drop-in Centre.

The Opening Ceremony was well attended by over 200 guests including senior civil servants, members of the diplomatic community, representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, members of women's associations and other sectors of the community.

"The purpose of the exhibition is to help raise funds for the HIV Information & Drop-in Centre, especially to promote a Women and AIDS project in the near future," said Miss Elijah Fung of the Centre and the master of ceremonies.

The official guests were Dr. Conrad Lam, Chairman of the Hong Kong Advisory Council on AIDS, Professor Lee Yun Woo, Chairman of the Department of Fine Arts, Chinese University of Hong Kong, Dr. Fang Zhaoling, Mr. Charles Yang, Mr. Wong Shing Chi, Provisional Regional

書評

By Patrick Fok

似乎書名應要改成“他他他她”的故事，十二個故事中僅有三個是真正屬於“她”的，剛剛佔了四分之一。但是卻反映了主編在約稿時所遇到的種種困難。

細讀三地不同作者的作品，不難發現他們不同的獨有特色。

中國大陸的作者的作品，平實中很有味道，故事中主角的遭遇容易使人產生共鳴。而崔子恩的一篇“我愛史大勃”，雖得八頁文字，但配以作者生動的筆觸，就將數人糾纏不清的愛戀關係交待出來。

台灣的作者則喜歡以整篇歌詞點綴作品，充滿抒情的意境。此外，作品皆令人看得興奮。如“冬

天最容易燙傷“中智明最後的醒悟，”My First Night Without You”中作者的瀟灑，與及“妹妹晚安”所描繪的「三人行」關係均無不使我既感動又羨慕。

香港的作品中有兩篇都是獲獎佳作，有一定的水準。作者智瘋的想像力驚人，末段的高潮部份令人百看不厭。

值得一提的是三篇女同志作品都使我留下深刻印象。吳潔芬筆下的人物性格鮮明突出。玻璃子宮的詩中的母親竟由敵人變成情人，而大陸作者林白亦透過二帕訴說女人要面對現實的痛苦。

Below 5 Well....The nicest thing we can suggest is that you try again. You're definitely on the right path but must concentrate more!

5-7 Still OK but you find it difficult to meet new women. Pay attention to topics that concern women.

8-13 OK you pass muster! You're probably accepted at most parties and gatherings. You need to be worldly wise though if you're going to be fully accepted into the Lesbian community.

14-17 Congratulations! You are well travelled and a regular reader of Contacts Magazine. Why don't you write for Contacts Magazine?

Dyke What's in a name?

The etymology of dyke is extremely obscure. It has been suggested that the word is a shortening of hermaphrodite via morphodite and morphodike, all of which have the long histories in the use of the word homosexual (but male sense). Another possibility is that the term derives from dike meaning "to overdress", "to wear fancy clothes", diked out has been used in the same way as decked out in the United States since the 1840's.

Arguing both these theories is the fact that word appears first in the long term forms bulldike and bulldyking, both used in the 1920's by American blacks. No african antecedents have been found for the term, however which leads to the possibility that this is basically just another backcountry, barnyard word, perhaps a combination of bull and dick.

Origin of word dyke Boudicca (or Boadicea) [ca. 28-62 C.E.]. The name is pronounced "bou-dikka".

Boudicca was a chieftan/queen of the Iceni tribe in Britain during the 1st Century of the common era. The Iceni were a Celtic/British tribe living in what is now Norfolk and Suffolk. Boudicca became chieftan/queen on the death of her husband. The Romans, who were occupying Britain at that point, did not recognise her husband's will. They seized his estate, all his treasure and the estates of a number of Iceni nobles. In addition, they flogged Boudicca and raped her two daughters.

Boudicca then headed an armed revolt against the Roman occupation by the Celtic/British inhabitants. At one point they razed the Roman settlement of Londonium (now London) to the ground.

However, the revolt was short-lived. The Romans rallied and butchered the Celts/ Britons. Boudicca died in 62 C.E., probably at her own hand. The reason for this, apparently, was so that the Romans could not lead her in chains in a triumphal procession through the streets of Rome.

SPAM On The Net

Once you start to explore the Internet in detail, especially if you post to Usenet newsgroups or subscribe to public mailing lists, you will begin to receive SPAM email. SPAM is generally defined as unwanted and unasked-for messages trying to get you to buy something, subscribe to a service, or something similar. The more 'technical' term is UBE Unsolicited Bulk Email.

In the 24 hours before I sat down to write this article, I received eleven such SPAM messages. From promises I could "EARN $500-$1,000 A MONTH" to requests that I buy some of the sender's artwork, more and more of these annoying messages keep arriving. This is not surprising, given that companies search the Internet and compile lists of addresses, and then offer to "send your ads to targeted or non-targeted addresses at Wholesale Rates" such as US$149 to send email to over 150,000 addresses. For a better explanation of what SPAM is, and why it is a problem, visit <http://www.cciweb.com/iway7/spam.html>

What Can You Do?

There are basically four options:

1 You can be silent, and never post messages anywhere. This seems like an awful waste, though. And why should you let these people control your life this way?

2 You can fake your return address, like 'spode@SPAMsqzm14.ust.hk' and tell people to delete the 'SPAM' part to reply. However, this can be very difficult, and in some cases may violate your Internet Service agreement, or even be illegal.

3 You can ignore the messages, and just delete them as they come through. This may not be a good choice for those few people who have to pay for each message they receive, but it works VERY well for me. The best way to do this is to use a good email program, like Eudora, which can filter messages based on who they are from, or what they say in their subject line. I have mine set to automatically move anything with "EARN $" and other things, into a separate spam folder, which I glance at once a week before I throw it all away, just in case I used too broad a filter (so I don't accidentally throw away a message from my Mother who just got a new email account last week).

An excellent web page to help explain all this, and show you how to set it up step-by-step, is <http://www.exposure-usa.com/>

email/spam.html. They also have some frequently updated files with e-mail addresses and subject strings to filter out.

This filtering process can also be used to get rid of the thousands of spam postings in Usenet newsgroups. FreeAgent for the PC (<http://www.footeinc.com/agent/freagent.htm>), and YA-NewsWatcher for Macintosh (http://www.tss.no/%7Elink/NewsWatcher/FAQ/YA-NW_FAQ.html) are two newsreader programs which have very good filtering tools.

4 You can ask to be removed from the mailing list, and complain to the administrator of the site which sent the mail. This can be very satisfying, especially if SPAM makes you angry. But if you don't know how to read email headers, and you have not learned how to track down where the mail really came from, you might just get more frustrated.

For more information on all aspects of email and newsgroup spam, take a look at 'The Email Abuse FAQ' at <http://members.aol.com/emailfaq/emailfaq.html>, and 'The Net Abuse FAQ' at HTTP://www.cybernothing.org/faqs/net-abuse-faq.html.

誹謗

同志交流會議指控「東方日報」誹謗。香港歷史上第一宗以同志社群名義對一間報館作出法律指控，已於九七年八月十日的記者招待會上公佈。

會議指控九七年七月十二日「東方日報」專欄作者包暢好的一篇打遊詩，指該文章不單嚴重歪曲和醜化了「華人同志交流大會」原本嚴肅、健康與認真的主題與內容，還加深普羅大眾對同志的誤解，把同志視作濫交的性愛機械。

盧先生引用詩中把大會說成「全球龍陽，香江匯聚，切磋簫技」，以及把香港成「屎忽勝地」的字句。他認為這文章嚴重地傷害了「同志交流會議」的聲譽及形象。

反歧視大聯盟主席，城市大學

應用社會科學系高級講師麥海華認為這篇文章片面，而且有欠公正。除了對交流大會造成很大的傷害外，更誤導市民，加深大家對同性戀的偏見及歧視。

他強調，我們不應以異性戀的標準來判斷，同性戀和正常人一樣擁有專長，大家應尊重同

志心理上的選擇。

性教育促進會會長李文照稱，同志教育比性教育更加困難，他將文章比喩為一盆冷水，懷疑過往同志運動所做的一切是否白費。對於一個教育者而言，他認為傳媒有必要反省這

類偷窺獵奇式的報道手法，以及幫助不幸或受不公平對待的群眾。

香港大學社會學系講師周華山認為文章的作者包暢好兼乘了傳統大男人的態度，明顯地重男輕女，當女人不存在，而且更直接地反映出一個根深蒂固的社會偏見。

雖然周華山同意作者不一定有惡意，但他覺得危險的是可以隨意醜化或塗黑一個弱勢社群。他指出這些社會偏見已逐漸成為一種常識，更值得關注的是，這種常識在媒介不斷產生為客觀事實，是十分危險及恐怖的。

盧劍雄最後重申指出，已於八月六日向「東方日報」發出律師信，正式要求公開道歉，直至籌委滿意為止，包括刊登篇幅的大小，暫時只能等待東方日報的回覆及與法律顧問商量追討損失的事宜。
